

Andron Security Services

As an organisation, Andron operates within a professional management framework and conforms to the strictest of standards.

We are a Security Industry Authority (SIA) Approved Contractor. This means that we have been approved through a rigorous process of evaluation & examination to analyse if the company meets the stringent terms laid down by the SIA.

The Approved Contractor accreditation logo reassures clients that they have chosen to work with one of the very best security providers in the business. Choosing an accredited supplier for the provision of security services will help to meet security obligations to staff, shareholders and other stakeholders.

We are also a Principal member of the British Security Industry Association (BSIA). Using a British Security Industry Association member to provide your security solutions means selecting quality and gaining peace of mind.

Membership was attained through numerous rigorous checks and examinations, demonstrating our ongoing commitment to providing a professional and high quality service, and reassuring clients with the following benefits:

- Independently inspected to ISO 9001:2000 with a UKAS accredited inspectorate
- Compliant with British Standards & codes of Practice
- Committed to quality training and development
- Up-to-date with the latest developments in British and European policy and legislation

Our Security division provides trustworthy staff fully trained to Skill for Security standards, and adhered to the principles of BS 7499 (Manned Security Services Code of Practice) and BS 7858 (Security Screening of Personnel).

In order to maintain our market position and achieve our overall aims, we are totally committed to our Training Schedule. We achieve this by providing all staff with a range of courses and continual training scenarios through our own Skills for Security Accredited and Certified Trainer, Training Centre and Examination Room. We aim to not only provide a vigilant and effective guarding service, but also officers who are approachable by the public and trained to communicate and help.